This flagship property marks a new chapter for CorporateStays as it brings its signature serviced living model to one of Latin America's most dynamic cities, where business, culture, and creativity intersect.

Where Urban Energy Meets Elevated Living

Tucked just steps from Paseo de la Reforma and surrounded by art deco landmarks, museums, embassies, and coworking spaces, Josefa by Urbanista is designed for professionals who want more than a hotel; they want a home base that matches the rhythm of the city.

The building offers:

- Stylish, fully furnished studio and one-bedroom apartments
- Rooftop lounge with skyline views and garden terrace
- Modern gym and flexible coworking areas
- Weekly housekeeping and 24/7 security
- Smart entry systems and high-speed Wi-Fi

Whether staying for a month or a year, guests enjoy privacy, flexibility, and style, with all the support of a hotel-like service team.

Why Mexico City?

With over 1.2 million annual business travelers, booming tech and finance sectors, and a thriving expat community, Mexico City is a magnet for mobile professionals and companies expanding into Latin America. From startup founders to consultants, the need for flexible, high-quality housing has never been greater.

Vladimir Suarez, CEO of CorporateStays, sees Mexico City as more than just another location; it's a strategic and cultural leap.

“Mexico City pulses with life; it’s fast-moving, ambitious, and endlessly creative. We wanted to create a space that reflects that energy while giving guests a place to recharge in comfort and privacy,” said Suarez. “Josefa by Urbanista is not just about offering furnished apartments, it’s about helping our clients feel grounded in a city that never stops moving.”
